

Michael D. Reiner, MD

Dr. Reiner listens to his patients, and that takes time. Once patients see him, they know he cares, they know he's been listening and they know he's been paying attention.

Michael Reiner, MD has been a doctor of family medicine for 35 years, nearly 20 of them dedicated to serving the Pahrump community. Beginning his work in urgent care at Pahrump Medical Center, in time he eventually took on the practice of Dr. Dennis Campton, a well-established and well-respected Pahrump physician.

His father's career as OB/GYN doctor in Texas was a driving force in influencing Dr. Reiner to pursue a medical degree. His younger brother also entered medicine, and serves as an ear/nose/throat doctor in Denver, CO. His youngest brother is retired from the US Air Force.

Dr. Reiner is dedicated to his patients and to the practice of medicine. He's stayed for the bad times and for the good times that Pahrump has experienced. "I've stayed for my patients. I've not been bought out, I've not sold out," says Dr. Reiner. "I've witnessed the departure of many of the doctors who were in the community years ago. I'm the last man standing – the last independent doctor here."

Dr. Reiner says he cannot describe it as anything other than the greatest joy in the world to help someone solve their health problems and feel good again.

He received his Bachelor of Arts in Biology with High Honors at the University of Texas at Austin, his medical degree from the University of Texas Medical School at Houston and completed his residency at Denver Presbyterian Saint Luke's Hospital in Colorado.
